WEEKLY TRADE REVIEWS

Retail Distribution of Merchandise Accelerated by More Seasonable Weather-Prices Higher.

NEW YORK, July 10.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade to-morrow will say: "Business again responds to improved conditions. Retail distribution of merchandise is accelerated by more seasonable weather and fewer labor controversies, while wholesale and jobbing trade, especially at the interior, shows the encouraging effect of brighter agricultural prospects. There is the customary excessive demand for farm hands. Reports of holiday traffic and trade in holiday goods indicate no diminution in purchasing power and semi-annual inventories show a more gratifying situation than expected. There is less than the usual midsummer idleness in manufacturing except in the cotton industry. "Violent changes in quotations of raw material are never good for business in finished products, so that as yet the cotton goods manufactures show no improvement in response to fluctuations at the cotton exchanges. But it is certain that there will ultimately come a revival of normal activity at the mills when the material reaches a less inflated level, at which goods can be manufactured with profit. Meanwhile stocks of goods in dealers' hands have fallen low, and sellers are insisting on generally higher prices than they did a week ago. In the bituminous after Monsignor Angeli. branch of the industry inquiries by mail as to future prices and market conditions have been numerous and there is a good healthy undertone, which indicates a large volume of business later in the season, but which has not yet developed into a heavy run of orders from the dealer trade, although there is probably a heavier tonnage moving than for the corresponding week a year ago. In the steam branch of the bituminous trade there is some quietness this week, both in the demand for deliveries under contracts and also in the demand on the open market. "In the Western anthracite trade there continues to be a very heavy demand from all-rail territory, and for the opening week of the month there has, apparently, been no diminution in the volume of new business coming forward. It was the general expectation of the trade if there was to be any quietness during the summer in this branch of the coal industry it would be apparent during the present month and that it would begin to show itself immediately after the national holiday. The active demand is. therefore, a source of more or less surprise in some quarters, while in others it was week's business as a criterion, it can be vitiated matter. The operation was comsafely asserted that in the Western trade July will be more active this year than it has been for a number of years past. In the lake movement of coal there has been little change. Movement up to July 1 was recordthere has been little accumulation of coal on docks at unloading points.

"In the Western trade probably the greatest activity at the moment is in the demand for coal for threshing purposes. Grains in the southern part of Indiana and Illinois are being cut and in the States to the Southwest, but in the more northerly fields they are maturing some later than usual; but, notwithstanding this, the demand for leadmonth ahead of that normally experienced Indiana block coal is said to be in fair demand and movement is ahead of a year ago at this time. There is also a good inquiry for other Western coals which can be used for steam purposes in connection with

INDIANA BOY WHO SHOT A SALOON KEEPER IN NEBRASKA.

Execution Delayed Thirty Minutes in Order to Hear Application for Injunction, Which Was Denied.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 10 .- The hanging of Villiam Rhea, which was to have taken place at 12:30 o'clock to-day, was postponed thirty minutes pending a decision of the Supreme Court on an application for an injunction to prevent the hanging. The action before the court was brought in view of the reprieve granted by former Governor Savage. The reprieve imposed "hard labor" upon Rhea as punishment. The attorneys for Rhea argued that this nullified the sentence for hanging in that it named two punishments for the same crime.

The Supreme Court denied the application for an injunction regarding the granting of a reprieve by the Governor until a further hearing of the application could be made. The Governor and Chief Justice Sullivan, of the Supreme Court, then went into consultation regarding such action. The conference soon ended. Governor Mickey refused to grant a further reprieve, and ordered the sheriff to proceed with the exe-

The attorneys for Rhea, in a last effort, went before Judge Holmes, of the District Court, in an endeavor to get the lower court to prepare an injunction stopping the execution. Before the injunction proceed-ings could be prepared, Governor Mickey's order was carried out, and Rhea was hanged at 1:21.

William Rhea's crime was the killing of Herman Zahn, a saloon keeper in the village of Snyder, Jan. 4, 1901. With two companions Rhea had been carousing in and near the village for a number of days. They entered Zahn's saloon, flourishing weapons and demanding that the inmates hold up their hands. Zahn pleaded with the men to leave his place. Rhea thereseveral times as it lay upon the floor. Unusual pressure had been brought on Governor Mickey for a reprieve or commutation, but without success. The name of Rhea was assumed. His parents live in southern Indiana, and his father sent lawyers from that State to argue with the Governor. Petitions for clemency were also circulated in Lincoln and over the State, and were numerously signed. Rhea was but eighteen years old when the crime

He said he thought the air of his room was somewhat vitiated and wanted it changed. An attendant, Pio Centra, after having been authorized to do so by Dr. Lapponi, opened the windows of the whole apartment, including that of the sick room, the Pontiff having previously been carefully covered with extra blankets. After remaining open for a short time the windows were closed, with the exception of the window of the sick room, Dr. Lapponi having decided that the balmy fresh air could only do the patient good. The opening and shutting of the windows were watched from the piazza by the people who had gathered there to hear the latest news, and some of them interpreted it as meaning that the Pontiff was dead, which necessitated a prompt official

The Pope prayed for half an hour and then had breakfast, partaking of the yolk of an egg beaten up with sugar, in hot | coffee, and a light biscuit. The Pontiff then attended to his toilet, but he did not shave. He then received his private secretary Monsignor Angeli, who was again surprised at the Pope's brightness of mind and display of energy. On leaving the sick room Monsignor Angeli remarked to those who surrounded him and asked for news that, if it was not known that the Pope was dangerously ill, from his appearance at that time he would say he was in his normal condition. The monsignor added that the Pontiff referred to several different matters, recalling exactly the most minute details and remembering facts, figures and dates with marvelous promptness, and all this to the accompaniment of snuff taking. The same impressions were formed by Count Camillo Pecci, who visited the Pope

Fortunately there are few other serious complications. The defective respiration has had a bad influence on the circulation and we found an alarming depression in the heart's action. Perhaps this second withdrawal of the liquid deposit may restore the circulation, but the great question is can this relief be sufficient and permanent? Unfortunately there are many reasons for doubt both concerning the restored circulation and the clearing of the respiratory passages."

The doctor declined to say whether, in his judgment, the Pope would have a peaceful end. He concluded the interview by saying: "The Pope is very seriously ill and is ninety-four years old. These are the essential facts. All the rest is smoke."

SERUM EXAMINED. Dr. Mazzoni had an examination made by a microscopist of the serum taken from the Pope's pleura on last Tuesday, to ascertain whether it contained any specific microbe. Some doubt had arisen as whether the original attack of pneumonia had been provoked by some specific agency such as, for instance, tuberculosis or can-

The examination showed no such microbe and the conclusion was inevitable that the pneumonia was due, as originally stated, to a dynamic circulation proceeding from lack of heart strength.

Dr. Rossoni, assisted by other doctors, analyzed the serum extracted this morning. The doctors explained that the purpose of the analysis was to determine whether the case originated from tuberculosis process or a tumor in the thorax. The analysis showed that the disease was merely due to pleurisy. Pope Leo has manifested great interest in the intended visit of King Emmanuel to Paris next week. To-day he made inquiries regarding the plans for the trip, but the person interrogated was unable to reply. The Tribuna, the semi-official organ of the government, to-night says: "In view of the condition of the Pope, which occasions deep suspense throughout the Catholic world, the visit of King Victor Emmanuel to France has been postponed until next September by common accord between the French and Italian governments."

"RIGHT OF EXCLUSION."

Catholic Powers May Veto the Election of Any Pope.

ROME, July 10.-Premier Zanardelli had long conference to-day with the minister of jurisdiction are all religious affairs in Italy, Italian government might exercise at the next conclave. Three Catholic powers-Spain, France and Austria-enjoy this privilege, termed the "right of exclusion," which entitled them to veto the election of a candidate who is not persona grata to their governments. In such a case a power which may desire to prevent the election of a certain candidate deputes a cardinal of its nationality to announce the objection at the conclave, but the announcement must be the candidate has received the majority of votes required to elect, otherwise the pro-test would be invalid. This right has been regarded as extremely important, especially in the middle ages, when Italy, being the largest field of action for France, Austria and Spain, the choice of a Pontiff was a question of supreme importance, as he played a leading part in their disputes. heir of the kingdom of the two Sicilies, which enjoyed the right; but Italy did not exercise it in the last conclave, and may, perhaps, find it difficult to do so now, as no Italian cardinal, even among those who are most conciliatory, would undertake to present united Italy, which is considered by the church to have usurped the temporal sovereignty of the papacy. Besides, Italy's policy consists in considering the papacy to be merely a spiritual power, which, enjoying, under Italian law, complete liberty and independence, can without political intervention exercise its ministry in Rome, the capital of the kingdom. Portugal also claims to be entitled to veto

Austria tried at both the previous conclaves respectively to prevent the election of Pius IX and Leo XIII, but the two Cardinals, Gayruck and Ganglebiuer, deputed for the task, both arrived too The last time the "right of exclusion" was successfully employed was in 1837, when Spain prevented Cardinal Giustenan from being elected Pope when he had already received 21 out of the 29 votes necessary to reach the required two-thirds vote necesary for election. Cardinal Giustenan was so disappointed that he died shortly after the

The Italian government follows the fluctuations of Pope Leo's condition with deep interest. Premier Zanardelli is kept constantly advised of every varying stage in the sickness. Immediately after yesterday's consultation, Dr. Rossoni called on the premier and made a statement to him regarding the condition of the Pope. He again visited the premier after this morning's conference. In response to questions put to him. Sig. Zarnadelli has expressed his personal solicitude for the Pontiff and added "My duty is solely to assure, in the interest not only of Italy, but of all Europe, the most absolute liberty to the approaching conclave, and the fullest assurance may be entertained that this liberty will be given.' The report has reached here from Berlin that Emperor William has expressed an intention of attending the Pope's funeral. tion would offend the Italians, it may be as well to say that nobody here believes the report. It may be added, further, that Italy does not look on the papacy from this point of view, as the government, as well as the Italian people, evince their desire to demonstrate to the world that under the present conditions, that is, since 1870, when the temporal power fell, the Pope and the Vatican have enjoyed complete liberty in the exercise of their spiritual offices. For this reason no opposition has ever been raised by the Italian government when foreign rulers have visited Rome, recent examples being the calls made on Leo by channels. Therefore following Cardinal Rampolla's visit yesterday the Pope decided to receive to-day one of each of these classes of cardinals. After this morning's operation he requested the doctors to leave the room, saying he wished to see the cardinals. The doctors gently, but firmly protested, declaring that he was still too weak. "But, I shall not be fatigued, as I feel much better this morning," argued the Pope. But the doctors insisted, urging that it was for his own good, and Pope Leo finally yielded, although expressing the hope that he might see some of the cardinals later.

LOWLY HERO OF THE VATICAN.

Pio Centra a Faithful Valet-The Pope and His Nephews.

ROME, July 10.-A lowly hero has been developed by the Pope's illness in the person of Pio Centra, the faithful valet of the Pontiff. He maintains a sleepless vigil, night and day, over his beloved master. When Centra is watching alone through the long nights he looks on the venerable Pontiff with the eyes of a mother auxiously studying the progress of a disease in her child. Frequently the patient's eyes are unable to gaze upon Centra's face, but the two men, without speaking, understand each other perfectly. The fatigue of the present ordeal has almost broken down the faithful attendant, but nevertheless he obstinately refuses to yield to others the honor of tendering his services. The doctors and members of the Pope's household advise, almost command Centra to take a rest, but he refuses to listen to them, respectfully giving everyone to understand that it is useless to annoy him and that he believes his post to be beside the Pope, and no one about the Vatican seems to have the power to drive him from the Pope's side. A story is told of the recent interview be tween the Pope and his nephews. When they were admitted to his apartment the Pope promptly asked for news of his birth-

Rampolla Despondent.

PARIS, July 11.-According to a dispatch to the Journal from Rome, the ambassadors on Friday found Cardinal Rampolla wrapped in a woolen shawl, bent and complaining of being sick. The cardinal declared that he would retire from active life at the Vatican, and could not attend the conclave. He said to the Spanish ambassador: "I want to go into a monastery Italy claims the right referred to as the and withdraw from the world. My human life will end with that of Pope Leo. Cardinal Rampolla wept bitterly, but a hoon had an interview with Cardinal Gotti who succeeded in consoling him.

She was revived after an hour's hard work. Mrs. McCullough is the defendant in a suit for $23 brought by Dr. R. A. Nelson for medical services rendered. It was not noticed when she took the stand that she was nervous and excited. When Attorney Mc-Guire began the cross-examination the witness became very excited, but nothing was thought of this until she began to sway back and forth in her chair and her answers became unintelligible. Several persons rushed to her assistance and caught the fainting woman before she struck the floor. When she recovered sufficiently a

Mrs. Theresa Green Claims Value of Her Property Is Being Injured.

Theresa Green asks for damages and a permanent injunction against the Big Four Railroad Company in her complaint filed yesterday in the Superior Court. She alleges that she is the owner of certain real estate on the southwest corner of Pine and Bates streets and the company has erected an unsightly "flag shanty" in close proximity to her property, making it dan-gerous on account of the fire that is kept burning there, and that it has caused a decrease in the rental value of her property. She wants $500 damages. She also asks for a permanent injunction restraining the to serve the children," has he calls his company from using the switches in the vicinity of her property. The blowing of whistles, ringing of bells and bumping of cars, she says, are a nuisance and are unnecessary. She also claims that a large number of men and horses collect near her home and injure her health as well as annoy her. From all this she wants to be

TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Argument Over Bill Filed by Frederick S. Chase Is Concluded.

The hearing of the argument over the bill filed by Frederick S. Chase against Charles H. Duhme and Ophelia Fowler Duhme was concluded in the Federal Court yesterday morning and the matter was taken under advisement by Judge Anderson. The contention by the attorneys for the defense that the original bill had been filed by Mr. Chase as temporary guardian, while the amendment to the bill had been filed after he had become general guardian, the court decided was not very strong. It decided that, since the bill and the amendment had been filed by Moses Fowler Chase through his guardian because of his inability to act, the amendment had been legally filed. The point taken under advisement by Judge Anderson is whether there was sufficient cause for action in the amended bill of complaint filed by Frederick Chase.

BITER OF MANKIND.

Allegation Made Against Dog

Christian Mueller in Suit. Leonidas Stafford, a street car conductor. brings suit in the Superior Court against Christian Mueller for injuries received as a result of being bitten by defendant's dog. The plaintiff asks for $2,500 damages. He alleges that the dog fastened his teeth into his leg as he stood on the running board clothing store owned by the men to make a of his car. Mueller claims that the street purchase. Rosenfield waited upon him. Sud- car men tease his dog and cause it to run denly Barton left him and walked to the after the cars. The complaint says that the dog has a "fierce and dangerous nature" and it is accustomed to attack and bite mankind.

A Few Days Ago

we received a letter from a Journal reader---an editor. Among other things he said:

"The Journal comes like a refreshing breeze. It is an extremely interesting paper and full of very readable matter. think it is ably edited, and what interests us is its brisk and breezy tone. Anotherthing I like about the Journal is its respectable appearanceno long staring headlines or yellow journalism about it, but all intensely readable and as full of thought as an egg is full of meat."

E. B. Peck, who has been in Chicago in onference with Architect D. H. Burnham oncerning the terminal station bids, returned yesterday. He thinks the work or the razing of the old buildings will begin next week. There has been a delay in getting the heavy rails for the double tracks delivered and an extension of time will likely be asked. It is thought that the terminal station will be ready for occupancy by next April or May.
